Passage 1

Cars are an important part of life in the United States. Without a car most people feel that they are poor. And even if a person is poor he doesn't feel really poor when he had a car.

Henry Ford was the man who first started making cars in large numbers. He probably didn't know how much the car was going to affect American culture. The car made the United States a nation on wheels. And it helped make the United States what it is today.

There are three main reasons why the car become so popular in the United States. First of all, the country is a huge one and Americans like to move around in it. The car provides the most comfortable and cheapest form of transportation. With a car people can go anyplace without spending a lot of money.

The second reason cars are popular is the fact that the United States never really developed an efficient and inexpensive form of public transportation. Long-distance trains have never been as common in the country as they are in other parts of the world. Nowadays there is a good system of air-service provided by planes. But it is too expensive to be used frequently.

The third reason is the most important one, though. The American spirit of independence is what really made cars popular. Americans don't like to wait for a bus, or a train or even a plane. They don't like to have to follow an exact schedule. A car gives them the freedom to schedule their own time. And this is the freedom that Americans want most to have.

The gas shortage has caused a big problem for Americans. But the answer will not be a bigger system of public transportation. The real solution will have to be a new kind of car, one that does not use so much gas.

11. Most Americans feel they are poor when they _____.

- A. have no job B. have no food
C. have no money D. have no car

14. With a car people can go _____ easily.
A. anywhere B. to anyplace C. to anywhere D. any place
15. The real solution to the gas shortage problem is _____.
A. to make less cars B. to develop a public transportation system
C. to make gas-saving cars D. to develop train service

Passage 2

Not long ago, experiments showed that birds use the sun to guide them during daylight hours. How do birds fly at night? Tests with artificial stars have proved that certain night-flying birds are able to follow the stars in their long-distance flights.

A dove had spent its lifetime in a cage and had never flown under a natural sky. But it had an inborn ability to use the stars for guidance. The bird's cage was placed under an artificial star-filled sky. The bird tried to fly in the same direction as that taken by his outdoor cousins. Any change in the position of the artificial stars caused a change in the direction of his flight.

But the stars are apparently their main means of navigation. When the stars are hidden by clouds, they apparently find their way by such landmarks as river courses, mountain ranges, coast lines. But when it's too dark to see these things, the doves circle helplessly, unable to find their way.

16. The reasons why birds don't get lost on their night flights _____.
A. have been known to scientists for years

C. are known by everyone
D. will probably remain a mystery

 B. the other doves of the same brood
 C. doves under the natural sky
 D. other birds in general
19. The experiment with the dove indicates that _____.

 B. a bird that has been caged will not fly long distances
 C. some birds cannot fly at night
 D. some birds seem to follow the stars when they fly at night
